

charged that seller did not live at the address given.

Davidson, of 10 Suffolk street, an American, was next discharged, the charge of illegal registration in the Twenty-third Election District of the Fourth Assembly District not being substantiated.

Dorant, sailor, of 250 Mott street, was discharged also, as it could not be shown that he had broken the law.

Charles J. Steele, 106 South Street, Thomas Scallan, 53 Bowery, James Loretto, 230 Mott street, Herman Satter, 285 Stanton street, August E. Paetz, 201 Bleecker street, Edward Flynn, 147 West Fourteenth street, were all discharged before Commissioner Sullivan.

Nothing was proven against Commissioner Sullivan. James C. Clayton, James O'Connell, were arrested for registering from the City Hospital. All three were held in $1,000 bail each, which was furnished, for examination Nov. 15.

Edward Krug said when arraigned that he had been arrested at the instigation of his father, who had a grudge against him. He was released before he had voted.

He was held for examination Thursday under $500 bail, which was furnished.

Abraham Denison, of 121 Forsyth street, was held in $1,000 bail by Commissioner Denon on the charge of bribing a voter.

Commissioner Denon also stopped the examination of prisoners at 12:30 o'clock and went out to lunch. They returned at 1:30 and started the mill to grinding again.

About 10 o'clock Inspector Williams visited the Federal Building and had a consultation with Marshal Jacobus.

Chief Federal Supervisor of Elections John L. Davenport was at his uptown office, 501 Fifth avenue, all day and did not appear at the Federal Building.

William Muldoon, of 30 Bowery, and Chas. W. Blake, of 340 Water street, were both held in $1,000 bail for illegal registration.

The following cases were taken out of in short order by Commissioner Sullivan:

Michael Kinds, illegal registration, discharged, $1,000 bail.

Joseph J. Sullivan, illegal registration, $1,000 bail.

Henry B. Sullivan, illegal registration, $1,000 bail.

BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS.

and four arrests were made before 8 o'clock.

"Jim" Campbell claimed the district for Cleveland by a large margin.

Fourth Assembly District.

Workers had little to do this morning in the Fourth Assembly District. The Democrats simply came out and voted without any fuss, and the straight ticket went every where.

There is no doubt about how the Fourth will go, and those who know things as they are, Cleveland and Stevenson are ahead of the local ticket.

Fifth Assembly District.

Captains at work in the Fifth Assembly District said that the early vote was heavy, and a full Democratic vote was being polled.

The district will give a good majority for the national Democratic candidates as well as for the local ticket.

Sixth Assembly District.

Up to 10 o'clock no arrests had been reported in the Sixth Assembly District, where voting was going on quietly and the full straight ticket was being brought out.

Cleveland is said to be running ahead of his ticket in this district.

Seventh Assembly District.

Voting began early in the Seventh Assembly District, and the Democratic workers did not have to hustle much to get their friends out.

The district is staunchly Democratic, and it looks as if it would poll a full vote for both the local and national tickets.

Eight Assembly District.

Two arrests were made in the Eighth Assembly District, where the full straight ticket was being brought out.

Cleveland is said to be running ahead of his ticket in this district.

Ninth Assembly District.

The vote in the Ninth Assembly District promises to be close, and both sides are claiming a bare majority for their ticket.

There were rumors this morning that Cleveland was being scratched or traded for another ticket.

Tenth Assembly District.

In the Tenth Assembly District, which takes in practically the old Fourteenth and included a good slice of the outside neighborhood, voters were out early.

In many districts crowds were waiting on the sidewalk before 6 o'clock.

The Democrats have everything their own way here, and are piling up a big majority for Cleveland and Stevenson and the entire local ticket.

Eleventh Assembly District.

The Republicans had fair to carry the Eleventh Assembly District, as they have in times past.

The voting began late, and the brown-stone-front people did not begin to get to the polls before 6 o'clock.

In several of the Republican districts, however, the vote was reported to be running ahead of the local ticket.

Twelfth Assembly District.

The Twelfth Assembly District comprises the old "Catholics" district, and is overwhelmingly Democratic.

Eddie Magan and his lieutenant were out to the polls before 6 o'clock, and had voters at the polls before they went to work.

The Republicans were also working energetically, and good feeling seemed to prevail everywhere.

A full vote is promised and the National ticket is not running behind.

Thirteenth Assembly District.

In the Thirteenth Assembly District voting was rather slow until after 7 o'clock, when the polling-places began to work lively.

The Democrats are counting on a 5,500 majority in this district, though Republicans have hopes of carrying it.

Reapportionment has somewhat upset calculations. Ferdinand S. Levy, for Registrar, is a favorite here.

Davenport's marshals are abundant, seven or eight being stationed at each polling-place.

Fourteenth Assembly District.

The vote promises to be close on the National ticket in the Fourteenth Assembly District. There is apparently no cutting on the local ticket in this district, but the early vote was not as full as was anticipated, but a good Democratic majority is promised.

United States marshals are thick, but they do not show themselves in the polling-places.

The voting proceeds quietly.

Fifteenth Assembly District.

This is a strong Democratic district and the voting was heavy during the early hours.

According to the workers at the polls, Cleveland is running ahead of the local ticket, and is receiving many Republican votes.

No disturbance is reported in the Sixteenth District.

Seventeenth Assembly District.

Voting in the Seventeenth Assembly District opened up lively, and a large portion of the residents had voted before 8 o'clock in many of the election districts.

This is a local fight between Kerrigan, Tammany, and Fay, County Democracy and the local ticket.

The Tammany men expect to elect Kerrigan and predict 2,800 majority for Cleveland in the district. There are 7,750 registered voters.

In the Eighteenth.

Tammany claims 3,000 majority for Cleveland in the Eighteenth Assembly District, but there is a bitter fight over the Assemblyman, McManus, the County Democracy, having received the bulk of the vote.

No arrests were made for illegal voting.

In the Nineteenth.

Voting in the Nineteenth Assembly District today is very heavy, the Tammany leaders putting it at about 5,000, with a majority of 1,000 for Cleveland.

The Republicans claim that this is too large. No disorder is reported from any part of the district.

ty for the head of the National Democratic ticket. Deputy marshals are plentiful out to do nothing with the voting.

In the Twenty-third.

A big vote is coming out today from the Twenty-third Assembly District, and a quiet fight is going on.

Major Grant's going out at 8 o'clock, which was a long flock of voters in some of the polling places.

Many Republicans in the district are not voting for Mayor at all.

In the Twenty-fourth.

The Democrats started off with a good lead in the Twenty-fourth Assembly District this morning, which was increased during the day.

Strait ticket was the rule, and Cleveland is said to be running ahead on Republican support.

In the Twenty-fifth.

The early vote in the Twenty-fifth Assembly District was rather heavy, and by 6 o'clock nearly two-fifths of the registered voters had cast their ballots.

The Democrats control the district, but in several Republican precincts it was claimed that Harrison was more than holding his own.

In the Twenty-sixth.

The vote in the Twenty-sixth Assembly District had been rather slack up to 6 o'clock.

The Democrats lead here by about 3 to 2, but there was also a considerable cast for Cleveland pasters by Republicans and for Mugwump support to the local Tammany ticket.

The Twenty-seventh District.

There was a great call for both Republican and Democratic pasters this morning in the Twenty-seventh Assembly District, and the Democratic workers were busy all day.

In the Twenty-eighth.

The Twenty-eighth (Hartem) District got its vote early today. In many districts two-thirds of the registered voters had cast their ballots before 6 o'clock.

The strong fight is on the Assembly candidates.

Democrats lead in the Twenty-ninth.

In the Twenty-ninth Assembly District voting has been going on slowly and quietly, with the Democrats in the lead at the polls.

Judging from the number of pasters ballots given out, the voting about here favors Democratic pasters.

Thirtieth Assembly District.

In the Thirtieth Assembly District voting proceeded slowly. Thirty Democratic full ticket pasters and only three Republican had been given out in the district.

In the Thirty-first.

The vote in the Thirty-first Assembly District promises to be close, and both sides are claiming a bare majority for their ticket.

There were rumors this morning that Cleveland was being scratched or traded for another ticket.

Thirty-second Assembly District.

In the Thirty-second Assembly District, which takes in practically the old Fourteenth and included a good slice of the outside neighborhood, voters were out early.

In many districts crowds were waiting on the sidewalk before 6 o'clock.

CATS ATE UP FALK'S BODY.

The Old Man Lay Dead in His Squalid Garret.

His Body Terribly Mutilated by His Starving Pets.

John Falk, eighty-one years old, was found dead in the garret which he occupied in the tenement-house at 29 Vandewater street at 7 o'clock this morning.

His body presented a horrifying sight. Kernal of flesh on the face and forehead had been eaten away by three pet cats, the only companions of the old man in his squalid, bare room.

A Saturday morning Falk was heard to go up and down the stairs leading to his apartments so many times that Mrs. Lizzie Cleiman, who lives on the top floor, was prompted to inquire if anything had gone wrong with him.

"Nothing, only I'm sick," was the feeble explanation.

He was not seen again by any of the other tenants until his mutilated body was found.

Finally about 7 o'clock the body was found and drew a pension of $12 per month. He was a widower and formerly lived at 18 Roosevelt street.

BIG FIRE IN WILLIAMSBURG.

Damage of $130,000 Done to a Wallabout Street Factory.

Fire broke out on the third floor of the four-story brick building, 171 to 187 Wallabout street, Williamsburg, at 11:35 this morning.

Three alarms were sent out, and after a fight of an hour the flames were subdued.

The cause of the fire is unknown and the damage to the building will amount to about $130,000, fully insured.

The first floor was occupied by the New York Steel and Copper Plate Company, the second by Jacob, manufacturer of silk ribbons; the third by Charles H. Corvet, manufacturer of shoes, and the fourth by Frank Weilbacher, manufacturer of ribbons.

Finally about 1,000 men were employed in the building, but they were not at work today.

Mr. Weilbacher and his clerk, William C. Gray, were at work when Mr. Gray discovered the flames coming up through the floor.

Both got away by the escape.

The third story was gutted and the goods on the floor were lost.

The building is owned by G. H. Hurimann, of 215 Bond street. No lives were lost.

IN LONG ISLAND CITY.

An Inspector Arrested for Threatening a Voter's Life.

LONG ISLAND CITY, Nov. 8.—Little trouble at the polls here has been reported. The voting is heavy.

John Shea, an inspector in the Sixth District of the First Ward, was arrested early this morning on a warrant sworn out by James Courtney, of Seventh street, charging that Shea had threatened to take Courtney's life a day or two ago.

Shea was bailed in the police court.

Mayor Gleason has appointed 500 special deputies for the various polling places.

BYRNES AND HIS MEN ALERT.

Reserves Held Ready to Crush Any Disorder in an Instant.

A private war was put in working order last night between Supt. Byrnes' office at the Police Headquarters and the office of John J. Davenport, of Seventh street, charging that Shea had threatened to take Courtney's life a day or two ago.
